Using an Individual Word Wall

Many classrooms have word walls with collections of words that the class is learning and using. A word wall can be useful for children to refer to when they need help spelling or reading a word.

Sometimes it can be helpful to provide all or some of your students with an individual word wall. Here is an individual word wall for you to write the words you want your students to know and use. Make copies and staple the personal word wall sheet into a folder for each student.
